WELCOME

Located in western France, between the Loire valley and the Atlantic coast, the cave dwelling village museum of Rochemenier invites you to discover an underground world.

Since 1967 the museum of the village of Rochemenier has been offering to the visit two underground farms out of the 40 present in the village.

On 1 hectare, during 1hr 30min, discover this cave dwelling of the Loire Valley, the daily life on a farm with underground rooms for people and animals, daily life objects, fieldwork tools and vineyard.

From the Middle Ages till the 1960s, the inhabitants used to live in these caves. More than 1000 years of history and evolution of the troglodytic housing in the Loire Valley are presented in the museum.

The temperature in the caves varies between 5°C in Winter and 18°C in Summer, so don't forget to take appropriate clothes.

A TRADITIONAL AND INNOVATIVE TOUR

The museum tour includes the traditional part with its underground passages, living rooms and everyday objects as well as installations using digital, sound and visual technologies, set up to bring these old farms back to life.

Follow the tunnels and the courtyards to enter in the traditional underground dwellings used for the family and animals. In every room, furniture, tools and daily life objects are exhibited.

With more than a thousand objects exposed in the rooms of the museum (the kitchen, the wine cellar, the barn, the stable, ...), step back in time into this daily life.

Turn the Troglosphere and discover the different activities of troglodyte farmers represented in these cavities dug in the earth, made up of fossils.

With the film " Preserve and Pass on ", discover for ten minutes the story of a young girl walking through the museum with her grandfather. Astonished to see there these tools and machines of which she does not understand either the use or the meaning, the former will initiate her, show her the history and pass her knowledge on to her.

The shadows thrown on the walls of the cellar plunge us into the atmosphere of a village evening. For a few minutes, live again "in hollow" the impression that the shadows emerge from walls and invite us to share a moment through the time. Memory of friendliness.

Enter the augmented dwelling. Hear about the life of the inhabitants of this house: a woman near the fire prepares the kitchen, peels vegetables, places them in the pot, closes the lid, takes wood and stirs the fire. In the distance the church bell rings.

Take a virtual tour of cave sites with the World Troglodyte app. Select geographic areas and access photos and descriptions of the sites listed. An interactive tactile experience to learn about the underground passages used by humans.
